Learning and Growing Together

7th May 2020

Just saying hi!

Dear children,

Hi again everyone! It's been such a long time now that we've all been together, so I hope that you are continuing to stay healthy and safe while we still have to be off school.

It's still an absolute delight to hear feedback from your teachers about how well a lot of you are doing with all the work that has been uploaded for you via all the online platforms! I think this has been successful for a lot of our families, especially when your mums and dads and other family members may have their own work to do too!! It can be really tough trying to juggle everything all the time.

Remember, you do not have to spend all day every day trying to complete your work, so I really hope that you are still finding lots of time to enjoy other activities at home and also time to enjoy the wonderful sunshine that has returned!

Have a lovely Bank Holiday weekend and don't forget it is VE Day tomorrow (Victory in Europe Day from World War 2). If you're having a 'socially distanced' celebration then enjoy and be safe! If you're not sure what VE Day is all about, then maybe that could be a little project for the next few days in order to understand more about our British history and why we are celebrating it across the country! I know Y6 are quite clued up on WW2, so hopefully you already know what VE Day is!

Before I go though, I just want to say – look out for a little surprise on our website shortly...I'm saying no more!!

We continue to miss you all,
Love Mrs Udall
