Learning and Growing Together

3rd November 2020,

Dear Parents and Carers,

I hope that you have all managed to enjoy some family time together during half term. I also hope that the forthcoming restrictions have not placed too many additional anxieties or pressures for your family. As schools have not been incorporated into the latest measures, we will return for the new half-term on Wednesday, 4th November 2020.

Unfortunately, school did receive some notifications of confirmed positive Covid-19 test results for both children and staff during the break and I would like to send my very best wishes to those concerned.

As a result, last week school advised certain classes that they must now isolate for a further period. If this is so for your child, please remember that their remote learning will be accessible on Microsoft Teams. We look forward to the return of all our Key Stage 1 children on Friday and the full return of all our pupils on Monday.

At the current time we are unable to relax our measures so will be continuing to work according to our risk assessment with staggered starts and ends to the day. We have not yet received any new guidance but I believe this is expected in the next days, we will of course, update you regarding any changes.

In the interim, please do keep safe and well and take care of one another.

Kind regards,

David Stephens
Executive Headteacher
